Weekly Fortnightly Monthly

Do you already contribute to a cause through payroll deduction?

Yes No

Does your employer have an existing payroll deduction program?

Yes No

Tax Deductibility:

Donations to JDRF of $2 or more are tax deductible
On Tuesday 2 July 2002 the Australian Tax Office released Ruling No. S. 251, which approved new rules to withholding tax regulations with regard to donations by employees to registered DGR charities. This ruling allows for regular payroll donations to be made pre-tax.

Please discuss opportunities for participating in pre-tax payroll giving with your payroll department

Please deduct a regular amount from my pay, as per the schedule above, to be given to the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation (JDRF). Please commence deductions on the first pay date after receipt of this authorisation. All payments made on my behalf are deemed to be payments made by me personally. This authority will remain in force until I cancel it in writing.

Section 3

Payroll Department Instructions

- Please make cheques payable to Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation and mail your employee's donations to Payroll Giving, PO Box 183, St Leonards NSW 1590. Electronic deposits can be accepted with prior arrangement.
- If your payroll-giving program is administered by a third-party organisation (ACF, CAF etc) please instruct the third-party to forward the donation to JDRF as per your employee's instructions.
- Please advise JDRF of your preferred receipting process. Tax-deductible receipts will be issued to the employee only if the donation is deducted after-tax. Pre-tax donors will receive an annual statement from JDRF.
- If you have any queries please contact: James Clampett, Head of Development, 02 9020 6100, jclampett@jdrf.org.au
